Organized by: NSS Unit 1 in Collaboration with the Department of Science

Today, Milli Al-Ameen College (for Girls) organized a significant event to observe World Hepatitis Day. The event was a collaborative effort between the NSS Unit 1 and the Department of Science. The main objective of the program was to raise awareness among the students about Hepatitis and the importance of maintaining a healthy lifestyle to prevent this disease.

The session was graced by Dr. Shaheda Tabassum, Assistant Professor, Department of Zoology, who was invited to speak on the occasion. Dr. Tabassum delivered an insightful presentation through a PowerPoint (PPT), which highlighted the causes, symptoms, prevention, and treatment of Hepatitis. Her presentation was well-structured, informative, and engaging, ensuring that the students understood the gravity of the disease and the measures needed to combat it.

Following the presentation, an interactive session was conducted where students actively participated by asking questions and sharing their thoughts. This interactive component of the program significantly enhanced the students' understanding and engagement with the topic.

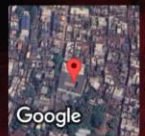

One of the key highlights of the program was when the NSS volunteers took a solemn pledge to adopt and promote a healthy lifestyle as a preventive measure against Hepatitis. This pledge symbolized their commitment to spreading awareness and leading by example in their communities.

The awareness program was highly effective in achieving its objectives. It concluded with a vote of thanks by the NSS Program Officer, Jemima Nasrin, Assistant Professor and HOD (Department of English), expressing gratitude to the speaker and all the participants for their enthusiastic involvement. The event was a successful initiative, demonstrating the college's commitment to health education and community welfare.
